It stars Sunil Dutt, Shammi, Hema Malini, Mala Sinha, Pran, Raza Murad, Helen, Iftekhar and Johnny Walker in pivotal roles. The film is a remake of the 1965 Kannada film Swargaseema. Plot Jasbir Singh (Sunil Dutt) and Rupa (Hema Malini) are two orphaned sisters living together. One day, Jasbir Singh is offered a job to take care of his brother's daughter at the place of the widowed Rajni (Shammi). Jasbir later takes his brother's family to his brother's place, where he meets Rajni. Rupa becomes envious of her sister's beautiful appearance and develops an affair with Jasbir. After a quarrel with Rupa, Rajni decides to separate her children from their adoptive parents and return to her parents' house. On her return, Rajni is soon murdered by the man who had promised her a good job in America. The man (Pran) who was Rupa's lover at that time, takes the blame and is imprisoned for the crime. Rupa is soon sent to jail, where she falls for her cellmate's son, a youth named Pramod (Raza Murad).

When the truth is out, Pramod tries to reveal to the police that Rupa had committed the murder, but the cops refuse to believe his story. So, he breaks into Rupa's jail cell and commits suicide.
